Policeman Crosson who was sent as a special detective to identify the criminal, returned to this city yesterday evening, and reports that he was unable to obtain any clue as to his whereabouts.

IMPORTANT AND SEASONABLE Notice -The Raleigh and Gaston Railroad Company advertise in this issue the sale of excursion tickets to all principal watering places and summer resorts in Virginia, the North and Canada. The tickets sold will be good for the entire season.

The liberality of this move will be appreciated by all who wish to find cooler places during the hot weather and who might be kept at home by the scarcity of money and the expenses of travel. The scheme of the R. & G. Road by selling tickets for the Round Trip at low rates removes at once nearly all objections.

JOHNSTON COUNTY .- We hope our friends in this county are not going to permit themselves to be turned aside from the question at issue by another which is altogether extraneous. What has the removal of the county seat to do with the amendment of imperfection of the organic law? Let that subject alone, and give attention to the main one before

One of the most expert and unserupulous political managers in the State is at work. What will stop W. A, Smith when he has a political object to gain? Are the people of Johnston live stock to be disposed of as he pleases? But he treats them as such. He boasts that he has made a swop, that he has given a thousand negro votes for "removal" for fourteen hundred Democrats against Convention. He says, moreover, that he will give $2,000 for the old Court House and jail, and give them to the negroes for a College.

Are the people of Johnston to be bought and sold in this way? Where is their pride of manhood? Where is their independence? No! they are laboring under a temporary delusion. They will rouse from the stupor and rebuke this attempt to seduce their judgment and corrupt their principles. Let them rise in their strength, let them forget local issues and personal differences, and close up their ranks to march forward to a conflict which is full of most tremendous issues for their permanent future welfare. A false step now is not be retraced. The deed is done for all time.

The less a man drinks the better for him, beyond a moderate amount. The more water a man drinks the more strength he has to expend in getting rid of it, for all the fluid taken into the system must be carried out; and as there is but little nourishment in water, tea, coffee, beer and the like, more strength is expended in carrying them out of the system than they impart to it. The more a man drinks the more he must perspire, either by lungs or through the skin; the more he perspires the more carbon is taken from the system; but this carbon is necessary for nutrition, hence the less a man is nourished the less strength he has.

ANOTHER BLOW AT THE LEGIS-LATURE,-We have seen the notice, a copy of which we publish below, giving information to the Public Treasurer of the service of an injunction upon him. The notice is in the hand writing of Josiah Turner, Jr. After the information given of all the transactions upon this subject, from the orginal acts authorizing the issue of bonds for purposes of internal improvements, the many decisions of the Courts acknowleding the validety of those bonds, the acts of the Legislature authorizing the exchange of the bonds, the opinions of the Attorney General as to the obligation of the Treasurer to recognize the authority of the Legislature, and the concurrent opinion of so many gentlemen eminent in the law, we are at a loss to conceive the force of arguments which induced Judge Kerr to lend himself to the furtherance of personal purposes, inadvertently perhaps, but not less effectively.

The burden of the attack falls upon the Legislature, and its bad effects, upon the Democratic party. Here is the notice forwarded to the Public Treasurer through the Sentinel

HILLSBORO, N. C., July 16. Hon. David Jenkins,

A Mi-sissippian has a cat of which he tells the following story: "I was sick a short time ago, and the cat would come from the table to the bed frequently. She finally caught a mouse and brought it to the bed, laying it down beside me. I threw it off, but as soon as I did so the cat would bring it back, until I thought she wanted me to eat it; so I made believe I ate it, and the cat went away aparently satisfied. And before night the same day she brought me a striped squirrel, and each day for the three days I was in bed she brought game, with the same result ; she would never leave until I had prefended to eat it.

Is there any justice or honor in demanding payment for the muni-cipal debt of this city, "dollar for

Let us have a commission to ascertain what bonds or scrip were ille-gally issued, and declare them yold, and to determine the prices at which genuine bonds and scrip were sold, in order to "pay that price, principal and interest, and not one cent more." We cannot carry this load of debt. We cannot pay it, and we must get rid of it fairly and legally.

The questions are: 1st. How much of this debt was made legally?
2nd. How much did the bonds scrip cost the holders? 3rd. How much or what proportion of the debt can the people pay without virtual confiscation of their property?

These three questions are vital, and it is with them that we must deal in the settlement of our municipal debts. The same rule applies to our state debt. The proposition that, no matter how a so-called public debt was made—whether legally or illegally, whether fairly or by fraud—it must be recognized at face value, like debt of whom a so-called public debt. debts of whose validity there is no question will not stand the test of scrutiny. The Nominations in Washington. Editors News:-The Democratic nominee for Washington county is Capt. Thomas J. Norman, who we nave great hopes of electing, as the Rads are very demoralized. Having made several efforts to nominate a candidate they succeeded yesterday in nominating Judge W. A. Moore by a small fraction over Sheriff, W. M. Bateman, which nomination gives a great deal of disatisfaction. A number of Republicans, both white and colored, declared for our candi-date, T. J. Norman, saying they would neither vote for a borrowed man or a Catholic. "VORTEX." The Gadsden (Ala.) Times says: On Thursday last a child of Mr. A.

Longley, who lives about two and a half miles from town, while playing in the yard was attacked by a rooster, and so furious was the onslaught that the child was knocked down and spurred several times in the face and head before the mother, who was near by, could rescue it. Dr. Ewing, who was called in, informs us, that upon examination, he found that one stroke of the spur had penctrated the brain through the suture connecting the occipital and temporal bones, which in young children are not knit together. The little sufferer-eighteen months old-lingered in great agony until 2 or 3 o'clock Saturday morning, when death came to its relief. He was allowed to experiment, and the result is that the body now reposes on a pedestal, clad in a dark dr ing gown with searlet bindings, black pantaloons, kid slippers, and black kid gloves with the fingers cut off like mits. The flesh is of a bluish ray colorand is as hard as a brickbat. He reposes in the little temple without the Campo Santo, Genoa, while near at hand, just over the wall, the ashes of his mother are mingled with consecrated earth. The eyes of this body are wide open, the hair and moustache very life-like.

NEW YORK'S PROBABLE POPULA-TION.—As the time for the comple-tion of the report of the Supervisors of the Census approaches there are more and more conjectures as to the population of the city. The estimates do not run below 1 000 000 and some calculated as high as 1,200,000. It is thought that the population of some of the lower wards has decrease ed since the census was taken, while some of the upper wards are supposed to have increased largely, especially the Nineteenth ward, population now of more than 100,000. he Seventeenth ward has until with in the last few years led in popula-tion. But the Nineteenth ward has outstripped it. The 15th inst is the limit of the time given for the census takers to complete their work.— World.

THE question is not whether we shall have a Convention or not; it is, who shall represent us? Remember

THE Convention is called to benfit North Carolinians. It is their duty to send their best men to represent them.

Ex-Gov. Vance takes the field on Monday. He goes up into the transmontane region. One blast of his bugle there is worth a thousand GEN. W. R. Cox goes up to the mountains on Monday for active work. Would that all our friends had the energy, the devotion and the enthusiasm of Gen. Cox.

Hon. D. G. Fowle and Hon. Jesse Yeates will address the people at Barrow's Bridge in Beaufort county on the 28th inst. We expect these gentlemen to do yeoman service elsewhere in the meantime.

MORE OFFICE-HOLDERS TO THE FRONT.

Judge Rodman is out for Convention. What are all these officeholders scrambling for? Is it for the pleasure of meeting at Raleigh to adjourn? No. It means something dangerous to the fortunes of the white people of the State, and it means irretrievable ruin to the Democratic party if the radicals carry the Convention.

JUDGE RODMAN says that he does not agree with his party that the Convention ought to adjourn without doing anything. He means either that the Constitution needs amendment; this strikes at the Radical Address, which proposes to fix the Constitution upon the people for "an indefinite period of time;" or it means, that the Judge, being an office-holder, will, if he finds himself in the majority, doctor the Constitution for the benefit of officeholders.

THE Radical secret resolutions bind their candidates to adjourn the Convention if the Radicals have the majority. Judge Pearson says this is revolutionary. Judge Rodman does not think it ought to adjourn without doing anything .--Which counsel will prevail in the Convention, that of two Republican Judges of the Supreme Court or that of the little conclave that issued their plans under the cover of secrecy? Will such of our Democratic friends who are disposed to vote for any candidate who pledges himself to move immediate adjournment take a note of this?

TO OUR FRIENDS.

The State Executive Committee have made every effort to enlist the best talent and the most active energies in this campaign, and we regret to say with no encouraging success. What do our friends mean by this indifference? Are not their own fortunes, political and social involved in this issue? Do they not see the whole Republican party stripped for the fight-Judges coming down from the bench, Solicitors and District Attorneys going out in the field, a whole army of Tax Collectors and Revenue officers marshalled for the fray, and can our friends be idle or silent in the face of a danger that menaces total ruin to every interest worth preserving?

We call upon the gentlemen to come out at once and go where they can be of the most service. Let them disregard private matters for the next fortnight. We call upon Ransom, upon Davis, upon Coningland, upon Howard, upon Williams, upon Strange, upon Fowle, upon Batchelor, upon Vance, upon Ham Batchelor, upon Vance, upon Ham lawfulness of this usage—or that their energies to the perpetuation of the western count their own power and the opening of the Convention.

upon Armfield, upon the scores of good men who have earned their title to the respect, confidence and good will, of the people. Come out gentlemen. Go to the West, and disperse the hordes who have been flooded into that section. Sweep back the foul tide and save the State.

THE RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF GRAND JURIES.

S. A. Ashe, Esq., has furnished us the following communication in response to the note addressed by us to different members of the bar on the above question. The subject is of sufficient importance to justify its publication even at a time when the Convention question is so very important:

The Rights and Duties of Grand Juries.

At the last term of the Superior Court for Wake county the Grand Jury in writing requested the Solici-tor to have sworn and sent to their room for examination two designated witnesses to give evidence on a charge vs. Judge Watts for a specified offence. Judge Watts thereupon directed the Grand Jury to attend in the Court room and required the Foreman to state how the matter got before their body for investigation. The Fore-man replied that Mr. Turner had mentioned the matter to him and had also given him the names of the witnesses. Being called on by the Court several members of the Bar stated their opinion, which was as follows:

That the Grand Jury had no right to make a presentment charging a person with an offence unless it was within the personal knowledge of a member of the Grand Jury that such person had committed the offence.

It was also said that if a private citizen should inform the Grand Jury of a crime that had been committed the Jury could not lawfully and rightfully ask for witnesses and examination into the facts and make a presentment. Indeed such conduct on the part of a citizen was characterized as reprehensible and styled "tampering with the Grand Jury.

The rights and duties of our Grand Juries are of sufficient importance to be familiarly understood by all citizens; and if I shall in the least contribute to that end, I will be repaid for the trouble of making this reply to your request. 1. Generally, in America as in England, if a person has been arrested on a criminal charge and bound over by a Committing Magistrate, it is the practice for the Solicitor to send the witnesses together with a a bill of Indictment to the Grand Jury who pass upon the bill.

2. And if a crime has been committed of which the Solicitor has information, the perpetrator not having been bound over by a Committing Magistrate, the Solicitor may likewise send the witnesses and a bil of Indictment to the Grand Jury for their action.

In these cases the Grand Jury makes no presentment in the common acceptation of that term, by which is meant the notice which Grand Jury takes of an offence and instructions to the Solicitor to prepare a bill of Indictment. 3. If a member of the Grand Jury as personal knowledge that a cer tain person has committed a particular crime, the Grand Jury makes a esentment of the matter, and then it becomes the duty of the Solicitor to prepare a bill of Indictment which ed on as in other cases. So far there is no difference of opinion that I am aware of among the 4. Perhaps all will likewise agree that the Grand Jury may also present any matters they may deem prejudicial to the public interestsnot involving a criminal charge against any particular individual. In addition, however, the writer insists that there are two other cases where according to law and usage in North Carolina Grand Juries may make presentment, as follows.

5. Where the Solicitor having information of a crime chooses to send the witnesses before the Grand Jury without a bill of indictment 6. Where the Grand Jury having information of a crime, but the same not being in the personal knowledge of a member of that body, have the witnesses called before them and make a presentment without the intervention or action of the Solic

At Wake Court it was said that the proper practice was laid down by Judge King of Pennsylvania, who denies the right of the Grand Jury to make presentments in these two

It may be remarked that whether Judge King's opinion be the law in Pennsylvania or not, the powers and duties of Grand Juries in North Carolina are not controlled by it.

Nor are we to follow blindly English procedents and decisions in these matters-for each State has a practice to itself-the growth of time and circumstance.

Indeed a recent and very learned American writer-Bishops on Criminal Procedure, section 733, says with reference to the course of proceedings by Grand Juries, "There appears to be no two of these States in which the usage is precisely alike "

It seems however that our practice as stated above is similar to the New York usage: for the commission appointed to prepare the New York Criminal Code page 117, says "The 'The powers and duties of the Grand Jury being in this respect wholly undefined, the practical result has been that private information conveyed to a Grand Juror * * * has led to num. erless prosecutions * *"

The Statute law in New York makes its the duty of the Grand Jury to enquire into all offences committed in the county; and if the accused has been bound over by a magistrate, to find a bill of indictment -and in all other cases to make a presentment. The foreman swears the witnesses. The Grand Jury may ask the advice of the court or of the District Attorney, but unless their advice is asked, neither of these offcers can be present during the session of the Grand Jury. In Missouri, it was decided that if the Grand Jury did not have the powers here claimed for them "they would be stripped of their greatest utility: that in the exercise of their duties they may cause such persons o come before them as they may believe most likely to have a know ledge of any violation of the law." In Wharton's Criminal Law there

So the usage and practice in North Carolina does not stand alone. Those gentlemen who deny are authorities cited to the same ef-tent to the act of 1797, where it is enacted: presentment shall That when any be made by the Grand Jury of any offence upon the testimony of a witness called upon by the Grand Jury to give testimony the name of such witness shall be endorsed on the presentment.

The object of the enactment was perhaps to preserve the information or the benefit of the solicitor; but whatever was the purpose, the terms of the act clearly establish that the usage was for the Grand Jury to make presentments on the evidence of witsses called upon by the Grand Jury for that purpose.

In State vs. Cain, Judge Hall says 'It is the province of the Grand Jury to make presentments from the testimony of any witness who may give evidence before them." Such witnesses should be sworn in Court and sent by the Court, but it is not intimated that the Solicitor has anything to do. with them.

State vs. Cox, C. W. R. 440 is another case in which the Jury made presentments on the evidence of wit-

It is to be regretted that the charges delivered by our eminent Judges have not ordinarily been pre served. In one before us delivered by Judge Iredell in 1798, he said you certainly are not confined to prosecutions commenced by the Attorney of the United States, or to such evidence as he may lay before you; but if you are possessed of in-formation of which he is not, it will be safest to consult with him and avail yourself of his legal assistance. Here this distinguished Jurist certainly meant that the Jury could base their proceedings on information, not confined to knowledge) without the action of the Solicitor if they choose so to do.

And why not? Is there greater hardships to the person accused of crime, to be accused on the oath of a witness than on the statement of a Grand Juror? Or does it work an injustice to one so accused to have the investigation begun on the information and instance of a Solicitor? What difference can it make to the accused that a Grand Juror rather than a Solicitor shall say a crime has been committed and that certain persons are the witnesses:

The only difference can be, that if the Grand Jury cannot proceed in the investigation on their own accord, then the Solicitor, if corrupt or negligent, can shield the perpetrator from prosecution, unless vate person will make oath before a Committing Magistrate and have the accused bound over to Court.

This would open a loop-hole for a criminal to escape: it would provide the means of stifling an investigation. The Grand Jury, with information of that an offence has been committed, cannot make inquiry as to the facts! What then becomes of their oath 'that they shall diligently enquire and true presentment make," when they are given in charge the entire criminal law of the State?

Can it be that the Grand Jury is to diligently enquire into only those cases that the Solicitor chooses? then, if the office of Solicitor be vacant or abolished, no officers can be presented, except such as are committed in the presence of a number of the Jury.

Again, suppose a man should proclaim publicly with some show of reason that in a certain matter be had bribed the Solicitor, and the community should give the declaration eredence, the Grand Jury could not inquire into the facts unless the Solicitor should take the initiative!

I think then, I have shown that our usage, as it exists, is founded on egislative enactment, is sustained by the decision of the Supreme Court and by able jurists, and is based on reason, and that it would lead to an absurdity if the Grand Jury could not exercise the right contended for.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE ON THE CONVENTION.

We quote without apology for its length the following article from the New York Tribune upon the proposition to change the Constitution of North Carolina. It will serve to show what a calm, dispassionate spectator of the contest, without partisan feeling in the issue, himself a member of the Republican party, thinks not only of the present but of the past.

It is gratifying to the Conservative party of North Carolina to find itself endorsed by the liberal sentiment of the North, and that precisely the same arguments and objections, both as to the origin and inception of the present Constitution, and its practical workings present themselves to this spectator who stands elevated above all personal and party influences and prejudices. Let our Republican friends read the judgment of one who though hostile to the administration, is Republican in everything else.

We quote without abreviation : Constitutional Amendment in North Carolina. The people of North Carolina, following the example of Arkansas, Virginia, and other Southern States have set about the work of remodelng the Constitution given to them during the Reconstruction period and the adoption of which was made a condition precedent to the rehabilitation of their State in the Union. If this work is done in the proper spirit, as it has been in the other tates we have named, it cannot be open to any reasonable objection. The imperfections of many of these Reconstruction Constitutions were pointed out by the Tribune at the time of their adoption, and have since been generally acknowledged. They could hardly have been otherwise than imperfect. The authors were too often deficient alike in theo retical knowledge, observation, and practice of the science of government; loyalty to the Union and ac ceptance of the results of the civil war were their only qualifications for office. Many of them were newly emancipated, illiterate, and mastered by a prejudice against a large portion of their fellow-citizens, which was natural indeed, but none the less deplorable on that account. Others were intelligent and to some extent educated, but new citizens of the States whose organic law they were to frame; and others again were mere adventurers who having acquired their seats by randering to the pre-judices of the lowest class of voters and manipulating primary meetings in their own interest, directed all

State treasuries for their own dis honest purposes. Nor did the better class of citizens have an opportunity of saying wheter they would accept the instrument thus fashioned. As a measure of protection to the freedmen it had been thought best to exclude for a time a large proportion of the people of the South from the exercise of the right of suffrage. Not one-tenth of those who voted at the Constitutional elections could so much as read the ballots placed in their hands, and the number who could understand the plainest proposition of law was quite as small. Thousands voted for the adoption a new Constitution merely because it secured to them their freedom, and others because its adoption seemed to offer the essiest way of escape from military government. No wonder that laws thus framed should be crude in conception and execution, abound in absurdites of legislation, and prove ut-terly unsuited to the people to whose benefit they should have inured.

One of the most faulty of these Reconstruction Constitutions is that u: der which the people of North Carolina have lived for eight years, and which it is now proposed to amend. A recent address of the Democratic Central Committee of the State thus describes some of the characteristics of this instrument and its practical working: Its provisions are so loosely wer :ed and so badly arranged as stitute but a medly of inconsistencies that defies the successful construction of the courts; in fact, to reconcile the difficulties arising from its practical workings, the court has in some instances been driven to supply omissions, and in others to introduce a new principle, hitherto unknown in the juridical history of our State, distinguished as "judicial legislation," an innovation anti-republican in character and invasive of the rights and duties of a separate departmen'. Its provisions are an obscure that within the brief space of its existence many more decisions on constitutional questions have been demanded than in the entire previous history of the State-and of late we have witnessed the extraordinary spectacle of two sets of Judges in both the Hd and VIIIth Judicial Districts, contending or the same position, one of which, claiming to hold by an appointment from the Governor for a period of ten years, an office that the Constitution seems to say is to be filled by the peo-ple at the polis, and whose terms is expressed to be only eight years. In many counties there is a practical denial of justice, the courts are inadequate to the public demands, and thus hey are driven to resort to special terms, which are expensive and unsatisfateiory, and persons accused of criminal offenses are often confined for months without trial.

The address which we have quoted also urges the necessity of a less expensive judiciary system, the abolition of useless offices, a return to the old practice of a rotation of judges, and the disfranchisement of persons onvicted of infamous crimes; and we are glad to add the people are called upon to elect to the Constitutional Convention "men of enlarged and practical statesmanship, spotless integrity, representatives of all classes of society, and whose posi-tions will entitle their labors to conlence and support." The subjects here suggested for consideration by he Convention surely may be dis ussed and acted upon without giving rise to any well-grounded fear that the rights of the colored danger, but this ery has already been raised by a partisan press in North Carmay expect soon to hear it come from Washington. The Legislature, however, in calling the Convention, was wise enough to impose certain restrictions upon its action which forestall such partisan clamor. These restrictions amply secure personal liberty; each dele gate before "he shall be permitted to sit in said Convention shall swear to bserve these 'restrictions;' Judge Jamison and other high authorities on the powers of Constituonal Conventions have clearly held that Conventions are bound to observe the restrictions imposed by a Legislature in the act calling such Conventions. We repeat, therefore, that in yiew of the necessity for changes in. the fundamental law of the State, the declaration of the people, expressed by a two-thirds majority of their chosen representatives in favor of amendments by Convention. and the restrictions imposed by the Legislature as the topics to be sidered, it would seem that the at-tempt of North Carolina to improve her Constitution should be allowed to pass without further imputations of evil intent. It is to be hoped, and there is reason to believe, that the members of the Convention to be elected next month shall be such as are called for by the Democratic Committee: if so, there will be little cause to fear that the changes which may be made will give any class of citizens cause for complaint.

North Carolina is poor, and the party that practices economy in her administration seeks her greatest good. The following carefully prepared table shows who are the political friends of our Commonwealth:

It will be seen from the above estimates that the last four years when the administration of the State affairs has been to some extent controlled by conservatives, the public expenses have been less by $35,775.81 than that spent by the radicals in two. a difference sufficient in itself to defray the entire cost of a Constitutional Convention. By an amendment already made to the Constitution the General Assembly meets only once in two years, (an amendment passed by Conservative effort) so that the expense of the last Legislature, $109,168.80, should be divided by two to show a proper per annum expense.

Now let us estimate the probable cost of the Constitutional Convention: 120 delegates at $5.00 per dism, 2 Door-keepers, $5,00 per diem 10,00 Clerks, at $5,00 per die Pages, at $2,50 per diem, Contingent, 10 00

Mileage,

In alluding to the four years of Conservative rule we "say to some extent" because they have not had the entire control of the State. ROOMS OF THE DEMOCRATIC CON-SERVATIVE CENT'L EX. COM., RALEIGH, June 1st. '75.

To the People of North Carolina: The General Assembly at its reent session called a Convention of the people to meet at Raleigh on the 6th day of September next, for the purpose of suggesting such alterations in our organic law as may be deemed wise and expedient.

NECESSITY FOR CHANGE. The necessity for changing many of the provisions of the existing Constitution is generally admitted, and is too apparent to require extended argument. It is true that some of our prominent men at one time opposed the call for a convention; but their ction was based on prudential consideration, and not on an indisposition to have the Constitution thoroughly revised. They feared that our purpose in seeking to reform our Fundamental Law, might be mis-construed by the violent and illinformed men then controlling Congress, and the prosperity of our peo-State jeopardized by some barsh and unconstitutional action on the part of the United States authorities. That fear no longer exists. We now have every assurance that the Constitution of the United States will be observed by the officers of the Government, and feel a satisfaction in announcing to you that the time has at last arrived when the officials at Washington City concede that the pecple of North Carolina have the ame right to manage their local concerns which the citizens of other States enjoy. We can proceed with-out apprehension to perfect our Constitution and remodel it in the interests of our people.

This Constitution, the creature of Military dictation, was born in the throes of a Military reconstruction. Its authors · were mainly Sciolists and adventurers, who had ved among us without preferment, or possessed of qualifictions entitling them to it; others were our recent slaves, who had known no law save the will of their masters, and others still were carpet-baggers, both black and white-airen in feeling and Radical in education-who sought positions here that were denied them where known—to despoil and humiliate us. And when their work was submitted to the people at the polls, thousands of our best citizens were deprived of the right of voting upon it, and over eighty thousand ignorant negroes were given the ballot to secure its adoption. It is no exaggeration to say that not one erson in ten who voted for it could read the instrument, and not one in fifty had read it or was even moderately familiar with its provisions, and many gave it their support beleiving it would be merely tempo-rary, and to escape further agitation and revolution. It is natural therefore that a Constitution thus formed and adopted should be found unsuitedt o our condition, and that we should embrace the earliest opportunity consistent with reason and prudence to secure such changes as time and experience have shown to be necessary. Our organic law should be expressed in language clear, simple and perspicuous, so that nothing may be left to inference or construction; our rights, so precisely defined as to be comprehended by all men of ordinary intelligence; and each deand Tuesday even-dead in the woods the woods be so restricted, that while left free to discharge its appropriate duties, cannot by unwarranted encroachments embarrass the proper action of

THE CONSTITUTION UNSUITED TO OUR CON-BITTON.

That the Constitution contains some good provisions no one denies; it would be sin-gular if it d d not, but its abominable char-acteristics were so manifest that not a singular if it d d not tut its abominable characteristics were so man'fest that not a single Conservative member of the Convention that passed it could be induced to affix his signature to it, as a fit instrument to be submitted to the people. Indeed its provisions are so toosely worded and so badly arranged as to constitute but a medley of inconsistencies that defies the successful construction of the courts; in fact, to reconcile the difficulties arising from its practical workings, the court has in some instances been driven to supply omissions, and in others to introduce a new principle, hatherto unknown in the judicial legislation," an innovation anti-republican in character and invasive of the rights and duties of a separate department. Its provi ions are so obscure that within the brief space of its existence many more decisions on constitutional questions have been demanded than in the entire previous history of the State—and of late we have witnessed the extraordinary spectacle of two sets of judges in both the second and eighth Judicial Districts, contending for the same position, one of which cisioning to hold by an appointment from the Governor for a period of ten years, an office that the Constitution seems to say is to be failed by the people at the polls, and whose term is expressed to be only eight years.

In many counties, there is a practical denial of justice, the courts are inadequate to the public demands, and thus they are driven to resort to special terms, which are expensive and unsa effactory, and persons accused of criminal offenses are often consecuted or consecuted or criminal of the searce of the consecuted of criminal offenses are often consecuted or criminal of the searce of the consecuted of criminal offenses are often consecuted or criminal of the searce of the consecuted of criminal offenses are often consecuted or criminal of the searce of the consecuted of criminal offenses are often consecuted of criminal of the searce of the consecuted of criminal of the searce of the consecut driven to resort to special terms, which are expensive and unsalisfactory, and persons accused of criminal offenses are often confined for months without trial. We need a speedier justice and a less expensive judiciary system. We should abotish every useless office, which is now filled by a mere consumer; for only by a rigid and prudent economy in our public as well as private affairs, can we hope to re-tore the State to prosperity. It is believed that the laws will be more impartially administered by a return to the old practice of a rotation of the Judges.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CRIMINAL LAW NEC ESSARY.

It is also hoped that a greater incentive to honesty and a purification of the ballot box might result from depriving those who are convicted of infamous crimes of the elective franchise.

The n atter of the Penitentiary which already contains more than six hundred able redded men, also demands careful and practical attention, to remove in some measure that butden from our shoulders. Most of our private legislation should be excluded from the General Assembly. However, our limited space does not perall us to catalotue the numerous devects and imperfections of the present constitution to enumerate the remedies to be of ion to enumerate the remedies to be of-

There should be some general ordinance adopted in relation to private enactments, thereby reducing the expenses of the lag-inc ture, and in order to prevent hasty and eronsiderate legislation that no new ma-n's be brought forward within — days of eir adjourning.

CAREFUL SELECTION OF DELEGATES. CARFFUL SELECTION OF DELEGATES.

As to the specific changes that ought to be made, these are to be considered by the citizens of the various counties, who should be careful to select as delegates those who will properly reflect their wishes. Men of enlarged and practical statesmanship, spoth ss integrity, representatives of all classes of society, and whose positions among them will entitle them their labors to confidence and support—and in their hands they certainly can more safely confide their rights than in the Convention of 1868.

METHODS OF CHANGE.

METHODS OF CHANGE. Of the two methods prescribed for changing the Constitution, that by legislative enactment is expensive, uncertain and dangerous; the several amendments recently submitted to and ratified by the people excountered the greatest difficulties in their passage, and even after the will of the people was declared in their favor by over 10,000 majoitty, serious apprebansions the people was declared in their favor by over 40,090 majority, serious apprehensions were entertained as to whether they were preperly adopted; again, legislators when possessed of qualifications for such duties, and cannot bring that attention to each provision presented for consideration, without meeting such criticisms as may imperil their labors.

The Convention method is speedy and economical, the body is composed only of the same number of members as comprise the House of Representatives, and their minds are directed alone to constitutional reforms and their work may be completed and ratified, if necessary, in six months, As to expenses that may be incurred, it is believed they will be more than defrayed in a least this.

As to expenses that may be incurred, it is believed they will be more than defrayed in a short time by the reforms that will be inaugurated.

The restrictions imposed by the Legislature, fully and amply secure the Homestead, Mechanics Lien, Rights of married women, and Personal Liberty, and should quiet the tears of the most timid, for they are recognized as of binding efficacy and are chiefly enjoyed by the friends of Constitutional Reform. Indeed they were incorporated in the bill mainly to remove partizan clamor, and anticipate scrupulous agitation. They are not the properly of a cre party, but had their origin in the necessities of civilized society and were found among the statutes of various States previous to the war.

QUALIFICATIONS OF DELFGATES.
It is useless, however, to seek to quiet the mere caviller: the keen optics of some persons defy ail law. The mere fact that the sons defy all law. The mere fact that the honor of the best men in the State is pledged to their preservatin, should satisfy every reasonable vote. This Convention is called in pursuance of law, and each delegate before "he shall be permitted to sit, to be entitled to a seat in said Convention of act as a delegate thereto," shall swear to observe these "restrictions" (see acts 1874-5). Should a part comply and port refuse to take this oath, only those who obey the law are members of the body, nor are we without precedents; similar eath was required of the members of the "restricted Convention" of 1815, the same question was raised, and after debate all the members cook the oath and observed the restrictions, and that in a time of high party exe tenent. In that discussion the distinguished Judge Gaston used the following language: "The Sate Legislature had indeed no authority to impose an oath upon the members of the Convention, but the people had ratified the act of the Legislature by choosing delegates under it. If we transcend the limits or refuse obdedicree to the conditions therein prescribed we are not the Convention called by the people, but a self constituted body;" these views were concurred in by Macon, Edwards, Morehead, and others. We will dismiss the salject, however, by calling attention to the able work of Judge Jahaleson on "constitutional Conventions," where, by prgument as different constitution, where, by prgument as different conventions," where, by prgument as different conventions, where, by prgument as different conventions, where, by prgument as different conventions.

AID FRON REPUBLICANS.

In our last election, it was gratifying to see Republicans who had hitherto submitted to the control of unscrupulous leaders under a mistaken belief that they were promoting the general welfare, seeing their corraptness as demonstrated by the "Credit Mobilier revelations," "Sanborn Contracts" and other francis and defalentions, and their vindictive and relentless policy, whereby they sought to degrade the superior race by this iniquitous "Civil Reghts Bill," overcome their party prejudice and give us their cordial support. To them we extend an invitation to remain and continue the work so asspiciously begun. To thosed who oppose us under the celusion of their leaders, who assured them his bill would never pass Congress and II it did would be versely by the Posician. their leaders, who assured them this bill would never pass Congress and if it did would be vetoed by the President, though it now has his signature; and who have witnessed the carnestness with which the dangerous "Force Bill" was arged upon Congress was as a larger grant with ruin upon their party and confusion to o State.

NECESSITY OF ORGANIZATION.

The friends of Convention should at one periect their organization and bring on their best men in every county in the State. The leaders of the Republican party than the their programmer products and their programmer. the constitution and efforts to central zeall power in the hands of the Federal Government, they have justly forteited the confidence and support of the people; they therefore trust not to their own strength but to our apathy, and will endeavor to secure our defeat by divisions and false leaders. We therefore respectfully invite their attention to the following resolution adopted and successfully followed in our last campaign:

*Resolved, That we earnestly recommend to the members of the Deutocratic Conservative party to discourage independent candidates and all other disorganizers, that all support be promptly will drawn that all support be promptly with drawn that all support be promptly with drawn tron every aspirant for office who shall oppose the regular nominees of our Conventions. Let your primary county Conventions be duly advertised and see that the result have a full emperium; refer ventions be duly advertised and see thet the people have a full opportunity of attending and expressing their wishes. The contest is important not only in its immediate effects but in subsequent results. The Republican party, under the leadership of caroet-taggers still remaining among us, will advocate the election of delegates, who will agree to meet and as journ without holding a Convention, and this in violation of the wishes of the people, expressed through a two-thirds majority of the chosen Representatives, and after a considerable part of the expenses for milage and per digm is incurred. We believe, however, the promise is but a delasion and share, for shoul; they ascertain they have a majority in the body, it will be an easy matter for them to evade their promise by the refusal of a new to concur; as they do not acknowledge the "restrictions" as binding, they will resort to the most revolutionary measures to sustain their desperate fortunes, and in the end, will fail a submit their work to the people for ratification or rejec-

Let us, therefore, present a united front, Let us, therefore, present a united front, and with a general ndvance along our lines Radicalism will not only be routed but overwhelmed, and a victory for Civil Liberty assured for INE,

Curious Case in Connection with the Postal Law. NEW YORK, July 17.—A curious case involving the constitutionality of the amended postage law has been brought into the U.S. Circuit Court for this District. A gentleman offers a book for mail transmission to Phila dook for man transmission to Phil-adelphia from this city, postage at the old rates being affixed. Being re-fused, he applies for a mandamus to compel the postmaster to receive the package. The argument of applicant is that sundry civil appropriation bill into which the amendment increasing the rate on third class mail matter was inserted, was not the bill for raising revenue; that amendment did provide ways and means for raising revenue; that the Senate has no constitutional authority to provide measures for that pur-pose; that being sole prerogative of the House, and the postal amendment having originated with the Senate and grafted on the bill which was not one for revenue purposes, is unconstitutional.

American Team, London, July 17th.—The Ameri-ican riflemen began shooting at Wim-bledon to-day. If Fulton's score is equali-ed the match will be shot off next

B. F. LONG, Secretary, my 13-deod&wtf OFFICIAL REPORT

The following is the sworn report of sales of Sewing Machines made by the leading of Sewing Machines made by the leading Companies for 1874. An examination of the figures below will show that the "Singhas largely increased its sales, while he other companies have fallen off. The Singer has shown a large increase sales every year as the statement below for the last four years will prove.

In 1871 the Singer sold 52,731 more ma-chines than their highest competitor.

In 1872 the Singer sold 45,665 more machines than their highest competitor.

In 1873 the Singer sold 113 254 more machines than their highest competitor.

In 1874 the Singer sold 148,852 more ma-chines than their nighest competitor.

Making the total sum of 875,137 machines which was 360,505 more than their highest competitor. This fact proves the great superiority of the "MINGER" over any other machine. Now the question is, how long will this state of affairs last? How long will the other companies be able to keep offices open in the different cities and towns when they are selling so few machines? Persons who think of buying or exchanging old ones (of whatever kind) are invited to consult their interest by getting a reliable machine from the old and reliable singer Manufacturing Company,
